

A diagram of a five-bladed propeller. The propeller has a central hub with a circular cross-section. Five blades are attached to the hub, each with a curved, airfoil-like shape. An arrow above the propeller indicates a clockwise direction of rotation.

